- G. Waiver of suretyship obligations of retiring and retired faculty and staff for faculty who availed of scholarships here and abroad

12

Justification: These individuals signed those contracts simply to facilitate departure of colleagues without expectation of gain and benefits. Most were in fact chairs and the most senior faculty in the departments and, naturally, the younger faculty looked up to them for support and encouragement. It is not fair that they are penalized for failure of the scholars to return and serve out their obligations.

"c. However, in no case shall a faculty member be paid overload or summer teaching unit honoraria beyond a combined total of eighteen (18) teaching units of overload and summer teaching over one school year (12 months, starting with the first semester). In reckoning this annual cap, all credit loads (teaching, research, administration, study, etc.), including summer teaching in all units and programs of the U.P. System shall be counted."
